RISKS

Currency trading is speculative and can result in loss of principal; therefore, the assets under management should be venture capital funds which, in the event of a loss, would not significantly affect personal financial well-being. This is not a solicitation to invest and you should carefully consider your financial situation as to suitability before making any investment or entering into any transaction.

WE DO NOT OFFER ANY ADVICE AND WOULD LIKE YOU TO READ THIS DOCUMENT CAREFULLY BEFORE ENTERING OUR SITE

When using a Forex managed account, where DARSAL professionals trade on your behalf, you should carefully consider your investment objectives, level of experience and risk appetite. It is possible that you may suffer a loss of all or part of your initial investment and, therefore, you should not invest anything that you cannot afford to lose. You should be aware of all the risks associated with alternative investments and seek advice from an independent financial adviser if you have any doubts or concerns. The risk of loss in trading alternative investments, including commodities, futures and currencies, can be substantial. You should therefore consider carefully whether such trading is suitable for you in the light of your financial situation. The high level of leverage that can often be obtained in alternative investments, including commodities, futures and currencies, can work against you as well as for you. The use of leverage can quickly lead to large losses and gains. Always understand that there is always a relationship between high reward and high risk. Any type of market speculation or trading that can produce an unusually high return on investment is also subject to unusually high risk. Only funds that you can afford to lose should be put at risk and anyone who does not have such funds should not participate in alternative investments, including commodities, futures and currencies. No representation is made that any account will or is likely to make profits or losses as discussed on this site. Past performance of any trading system or methodology is not necessarily indicative of future results.

You certify that you understand the contents of this page. Alternative investments carry a high degree of risk and may not be suitable for all investors.
